CERTIFIED BOTTLES

The safety of food contact materials must be evaluated as chemicals can migrate from the materials into food. The materials must be manufactured in compliance with EU regulations, including good manufacturing practices, so that any potential transfer to foods does not raise safety concerns, change the composition of the food in an unacceptable way or have adverse effects on the taste and/or odour of foods.

Soft touch coatings make characteristically pleasant surfaces, such as those of many plastics and metals, more appealing to customers. These coatings can be formulated to feel rubbery & velvety to positively differentiate products from the competition.

By drinking water from a BPA-free water bottle you are eliminating a main source contributing to higher BPA levels in your body. For improved health and to decrease the risks of the health effects above, we recommend choosing BPA-free drinking bottles from Colorissimo®.
